Flexible workspace leader Regus launches new franchise programme in India

Ahmedabad: Flexible workspace, sometimes known as co-working, has become a high-growth industry in recent years. The term refers to office space, meetings rooms and co-working areas that can be rented by individual workers or companies for a temporary period of time, from one hour to several years. The industry is estimated to be growing by 24% each year. By 2020, 50% of all workers will be remote most of the time. In 2022, the global mobile workforce will be 1.87 billion people. This is why global real estate giant JLL estimates that up to 30% of corporate real estate could be flexible workspace by 2030.

VNSGU has answer to conducting leak-proof exam

At a time when the Gujarat police had to cancel recruitment exam for lok rakshak dal (LRD) jawans following paper leak, the Veer Narmad South Gujarat University (VNSGU) seems to have the answer to the situation. It has developed a system where fresh question papers can be circulated across all centres within few minutes and exam could be conducted with fresh set of question papers.

The university had developed the system after it was put in an embarrassing situation in 2006 due to exam paper leak. Though there has been no incidents of paper leaks since then, but the university over the years has developed, what it calls a leak-proof system, using technology. In 2006, VNSGU had to cancel annual exam of Bachelor of Commerce (BCom) as the question paper was leaked by a peon of a college in Vapi.
